

Car Non-slip sticky pad

Having your phone and other small belongings glued to a spot in your car would certainly not be a bad idea. The Car Non-slip sticky pad actually allows you to do just that without having to glue anything.

The silicone based pad allows you to secure your belongings by placing them on the non-slip pad that can be placed in the most convenient spot for you. The sticky pad can also be a great alternative to phone holders and they offer more security by ensuring that your items don't drop during the twist, turns, bumps and breaks of driving.

You can get your pads in any of the available colours ranging from red, blue, violet, yellow and black. The pad can also hold figurines, keys, coins and other small items. The coolest advantage of this must-have car accessory is the strong grip and security it gives your phone even when your car is wound done as it would take some effort for someone to pull your phone off from outside.

The pad is easy to clean and very functional and is best used at the front on the car's dashboard but can also be used in a any other place you deem fit.
