

NEVER GIVE UP

But how do you feel ?

When you meet your classmates, and it seems like he/she has accomplished their dreams

And you're not yet close to yours?

So many thoughts runs through your mind, right?

First, you think God has not been fair to you.

How about the ones you meet on the street wearing dirty clothes and still struggling for survival ?

Do you get the same thoughts running through your mind?

I guess, NO.

Don't forget too that some are already dead.

Somehow it feels natural to have that feeling of jealousy for those mates who seems better off, but it is really unnecessary.

There is no room for regret

We are all different and our paths to greatness are also not same in distance.

Some might arrived earlier before you and some after you, but whatever level you find yourself in life,

Please keep trying to break limitations and move further.

Celebrate the success of others, its an indication that yours too shall surely come.

Your friend buys a car now, be happy with him/ her.

Remember when you'll buy yours, theirs might not be the latest again.

There's no permanent champion, but current champion.

Life is not about competition, do not be in a race with anyone; remember, we may seem to be reading the same book but different chapters at different times.

Don't let the passion in you kill the desire in you, keep it burning.

What you're passing through today;

Write it down because one day the world would be ready to read it, they'll become part of your success story.

There's no height you cannot attain, believe in yourself, define your goals, recognize distractions and don't stop striving.

Spend time teaching yourself, because those things that mainly take people to the top are the things they devoted their time to develop.

Don't be intimidated by your friend's success, the sky is wide enough for birds to fly without touching one another.

Value every little thing that God brings into our life, love God and obey Him.

For with God, all things are possible.

Now to those who are on top

Never forget to give a helping hand to those who are down.

Because life is full of uncertainties; the one you pull up today, may be the one to hold your hands tomorrow be wise.

"NEVER GIVE UP"