Dear Sir,

Re: Costing for the Publication of "Canon Law in the Hands of Beginners: Explaining the Basic Norms of Canonical Science"

Further to your request for a quotation on the production of the above titled book, we are pleased to specify our input as follows:

As publishers, we shall review the manuscript, copy-edit and style the text. We shall raise editorial queries on issues that will need clarification and send them to you for appropriate action. Thereafter, we shall typeset or use your diskette, where available, to format the text. We shall send you a set of the proofs to read for typographical errors and changes in structure, which would have cropped up in course of our copy-editing. We shall also read our own set of the proofs.

Our graphic artists shall produce the cover visuals which, after due consultation with you, shall be approved for the book. We would require a minimum of 120 days to publish the book. We shall produce the agreed number of copies for you to collect.

Our quotation is stated below:
