

THE DAYS OF YOUR YOUTH.

- When is the right time to remember God or to serve God?
- Are you the type that waits for the 11th hour?

There are many people who feel marriage is meant to “tie people down”, so they “live life” to the fullest, repent a day before they get married and become responsible and respectful people in their marriages. It doesn’t work that way.

Many people are regular church goers, weekly seat warmers, good friends to the pastors or priests of the church etc, it’s not your regularity and punctuality to church that matters, it’s the quality of service you’ve done to God that counts.

The Bible advises us on what to do with our youthful age. Eccl. 12:1 (Paraphrased) “Remember your God in the days of your youth”. If you aren’t doing this you’re wasting your youthful age.

I’m not saying it’s wrong to serve God in your old age, but what makes you think you’ll live up to your expected age? Many people younger than you had died before now. You won’t be able to serve God in your old age with vigor, energy and strength as compared to now that you’re a youth.

Most great men in the Bible started off as youths, we have the likes of Daniel, Shedrach, Meshach, Abednego, David, Josiah; he was only 8 when he started his 31-year reign in Jerusalem, Jehoshaphat (35) and Timothy among others. Solomon, Gideon, Joshua, these guys did exploit for God and they were used mightily of God.

The first thing you need to do is get rid sin, confess and repent of any and all sins that easily besets, secondly, do away with the 11th hour mentality, make yourself available for the Lord to use, ask of Him to use you and get something done, there is always something that needs to be done. Loom deep done within you you’ll see what god deposited in you, use it for Him and to His glory.

Remember and serve the Lord in the days of your youth. The 11th hour is dangerous and might be too late.
